Article II. God.

C. God the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of God. He inspired holy men of old to write the Scriptures. Through illumination He enables men to understand truth. He exalts Christ. He convicts of sin, of righteousness and of judgment. He calls men to the Saviour, and effects regeneration. He cultivates Christian character, comforts believers, and bestows the spiritual gifts by which they serve God through His church. He seals the believer unto the day of final redemption. His presence in the Christian is the assurance of God to bring the believer into the fullness of the stature of Christ. He enlightens and empowers the believer and the church in worship, evangelism, and service.

Quo Vadis, 1951 epic MGM film adapted from the classic novel Quo Vadis (1896) by Henryk Sienkiewicz. Marcus Vinicius, a Roman patrician, falls for Lygia, a Christian, and he attempts to save her from Nero's increasing insanity.

“Quo Vadis”—“Where are you going?” refers to a Christian tradition of St Peter from the apocryphal Acts of Peter (Vercelli Acts XXXV). As Peter flees Rome, he meets the risen Jesus and asks Jesus “Quo vadis?” Jesus replies, "Romam eo iterum crucifigi"—"I am going to Rome to be crucified again." Peter gains the courage to return to Roman and his ministry, and eventually to be crucified.

Unworthy to be crucified as his Lord was, he asked to be crucified upside-down.

The Church of Domine Quo Vadis in Rome is built where, according to legend, the meeting took place between Peter and Jesus.
